To Whom It May Concern:

Rob Pizem was contacted by the No Barriers organization, to accompany Erik Weihenmayer and Timmy O'Neill on an expedition to climb the Dolomites, a mountain range in Italy from August 15th to August 23rd.

Erik Weihenmayer is best known as the only blind person to have climbed the Seven Summits on each continent, including Mt. Everest. Ten years ago, Erik started the organization No Barriers, which has become not just an organization, but also a movement to help people with challenges, all of us, live a No Barriers Life. This is not a life without barriers, but a life where barriers are tackled and harnessed to prove that "what's within us is stronger than what's in our way."

Mr. Pizem was chosen for his detailed knowledge of the area and his experience as a climber. He is volunteering his time for this trip. His time and expertise are greatly appreciated as an invaluable asset to the success of this journey.

Kind Regards,
